Media Bio

Jennifer Jane Young is an Intuitive Business Advisor and United Nations Consultant. She facilitates growth, flow, and transformation for heart-centered, impact-driven entrepreneurs and businesses. She thrives in helping entrepreneurs define what most aligns with their intuition, identify their personal roadblocks, and take intentional action steps toward their most fulfilled life. Jennifer has a knack for finding clients' hidden potential and discovering ample opportunities for their next level of expansion. Through deep, purposeful listening, she creates a safe space for entrepreneurs to share their deepest yearnings, fears, and struggles; ultimately helping them reconnect to their inner wisdom.

Jennifer is on a mission to open our eyes to the broad possibilities available through the lens of her own experience. Her clients are leaders and visionaries with big hearts and passionate dreams who aim to live the life they're called to, while simultaneously creating positive change in the world. Her work is guided by intuition and anchored in practical, intentional action. Merging her strong, creative right brain with her highly practical left brain, she facilitates growth and success.

Jennifer is also an advocate for animal rescue work and women empowerment. She was previously the host of the podcast, The Art Of Making Things Happen, and is now the host of Finding Your Flow, her latest podcast that debuted in 2021. Through her nurturing nature, Jennifer has freed herself from debilitating anxiety and many years of oppressive relationships. She is now living a peaceful and successful life in Canada with her two dogs.
